Funding Management Simplified

The Challenge

- The City of Mount Pearl held a hackathon and presented challenges identified by municipalities around the province
- One of the challenges was the headache surrounding keeping track of funding opportunities, applying for funding, and managing reporting requirements from funding bodies

How we approached it

- Met with municipal staff - the people in the office who are doing these things
- Identified the pain points
- Built a solution customized to their needs
- Built the system to be scalable to different sizes of teams and municipalities

Jeremy's Pain Points:

Sourcing Funding Packages

- Sorting through emails
- Identifying the requirements

Finding Answers from Previous Applications

- Duplication of Efforts
- Inefficient use of time

Building Ad-hoc schedules to manage reporting requirements

- Reporting deadlines get missed
- Risks loss of funding
- Risk of harming relationships for future funding opportunities

PROJECT STAGES

Demo

“With time saved and collaboration made easy, I would definitely use FundBox tomorrow.”

-Angelo Casanas, Director of Partnerships and Programs, the Genesis Centre

"This is definitely something that would help me manage my day-to-day funding initiatives"

-Jeremy Schwartz, Marketing and Economic Development, The City of Mount Pearl

Future Developments and Scalability

- Multiple partner collaboration
- Modular functions to fit teams needs
- Receipt and expense tracking
- Realized spend vs budget still available
- Track accounts receivables from funders

-Application scoring based on effort required to apply vs probability of success

-Compare and review previous applications against current program requirements and identify gaps

Future of FundBox

This weekend, we were limited by time, and our resources. One developer built this prototype.

Next Steps:

- Keep working with the City of Mount Pearl
- Finalize the municipal funding workflow
- Make it available for other groups
- Work with Funding Bodies to feed in applications
